

Meet Your Instructor

Hi! I'm Ted Krovetz and I'll be the instructor of this course.

I was born in Anaheim, grew up in Santa Cruz, and have lived in Davis since 1995. I got my degrees from Stanford, Oxford, and UC Davis, and liked Davis enough that I decided to stay. I've been at Sacramento State since 2002.

I mostly teach theoretical topics like computer algorithms, computer theory, and cryptography, but enjoy programming so much that I once asked if I could teach introductory programming, which I then did for half a dozen years. I've also been the chief judge and problem-setter for the programming contests that the department runs.

In my free time I like to swim and make simple delicious vegetarian foods like hummus, salsa, and yogurt.

For a look at my research, go to <https://krovetz.net/csus>.

For office hour information, go to <https://krovetz.net/oh>.

See the course syllabus for contact information.